To whom it may concern,

My "public comment" on the Microsoft antitrust settlement will probably be ignored since it's clear the DOJ has its own agenda, which is to allow MS to continue its monopoly. That is abundantly clear from the laughable proposed settlement recently turned down by a judge.

Suffice to say, the DOJ is not doing its job, which is to protect the consumers from abusive companies like MS and promote competition, which is good for all involved, even MS in the long run.

Oh well, perhaps when the administration changes again, the American public will get a DOJ that stands with them instead of the monopolists in this country.

Sincerely,
Tai Morris
